1st August 2014

Dear Customer,

Agilent's Electronic Measurement group is now Keysight Technologies!

As announced in September 2013, Agilent Technologies decided to separate into two publicly traded companies: one in life sciences, diagnostics and applied markets, and the other in electronic measurement, called Keysight Technologies. Effective August 1, we began operating as Keysight while still a wholly owned subsidiary of Agilent Technologies, and we expect to be a fully separate public company in early November 2014.

We are confident you will come to recognize and associate Keysight with the same product leadership, quality, and support you have come to expect from us. The Keysight name connotes seeing what others cannot, having the critical or key insight to understand and unlock the changing technology landscape. Keysight is built on 'firsts' dating back to the birth of HP and Silicon Valley 75 years ago this year, and as a new company we are committed to bringing you a new generation of firsts – unlocking insights for you so you can in turn bring a new generation of technologies into the world. We believe our new name captures the spirit of our organization and the DNA of our employees—innovative, insightful and forward-looking.

You can count on our 9,500 Keysight employees to earn your loyalty daily by providing you the quality solutions and support you have come to expect. Your contacts as well as the familiar processes for service, support, and product purchasing remain in place. With our sole focus on the electronic measurement industry and you, we are committed to transform our portfolio to provide even better industry leading solutions to you.

We value the strong relationship we have with you, and look forward to our continued partnership for many years to come.

Best regards,
